

FOOD FOR PEACE ROHINGYA RESPONSE

On August 25, 2017, violence in Burma's Rakhine State prompted over 700,000 people to flee to neighboring Bangladesh. See how USAID's Office of Food for Peace is responding to the humanitarian crisis in Cox's Bazar District.

HUMANITARIAN NEEDS

More than 913,000 refugees and 336,000 Bangladeshis in need in Cox's Bazar District

744,000
new arrivals as of September 2019

At least 88%

of refugees rely on life-saving assistance

ALL

refugees are in need of food assistance

OUR RESPONSE

~$123 Million in humanitarian assistance in Fiscal Year 2019 for:

EMERGENCY FOOD ASSISTANCE

rice, pulses and oil for refugees through general food distributions and HEBs for refugees affected by natural disasters.

FOOD VOUCHERS

to allow refugees access to a wider range of nutrient-rich foods from local Bangladeshi markets.

CASH TRANSFERS

to host communities to increase social & economic empowerment; to refugees for disaster risk reduction cash-for-work activities.

NUTRITION SUPPORT

to prevent & treat acute malnutrition; support for life-saving nutrition services.

COMPLEMENTARY SERVICES

for food sector coordination, service delivery, logistics, and capacity building activities in host communities and refugee camps.
